The treemap visualization displays the distribution of course credits and hours across various categories and semesters. The data is organized into a grid with columns for 'Fall Semester' and 'Spring Semester' repeated multiple times. The rows represent different course categories, each with a total credit and hour count. The categories are color-coded: yellow for the top section, green for the middle section, orange for the lower-middle section, blue for the lower section, pink for the bottom section, and grey for the very bottom section. Each category is further divided into sub-categories like 'Theory' and 'STUDIO', which are then broken down into specific course offerings with their respective credit and hour values.
